WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Dry and mild conditions will persist for the next several days with some cooling through midweek as a strong ridge of high pressure gradually shifts east. It will be clear in most areas except for clouds along the immediate coast.

San Francisco Weather:

Dry weather conditions will persist with temperatures cooling to near seasonal averages through the latter half of the week. A brief return to warmer conditions can be expected for the upcoming weekend as high pressure rebuilds over the West Coast. A cooler Pacific system will then impact the region early next week.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

Dry and warm weather expected for interior northern California this week under strong high pressure.

Hanford Weather:

Mostly clear skies and above average temperatures as strong high pressure continues to dominate the region. A slight cooling trend is expected by midweek as the high weakens.

WEATHER

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

High pressure over the western United States will weaken through midweek resulting in slightly cooler temperatures mainly over coastal areas, though still above normal. Overnight low clouds and fog along with dense fog is possible in some coastal locations. High pressure returns to the area by the weekend for above normal temperatures and an absence of overnight low clouds and fog.

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

Moisture from weakening Tropical Storm Simon will spread northward into far southern and eastern portions of southern California through tonight, then move east Wednesday night. This will bring a chance of showers into Wednesday afternoon with a slight chance of thunderstorms each afternoon through early evening. Drying and slight cooling will follow for coastal areas on Thursday and Friday, followed by warming and lower inland humidities for the weekend through early next week.

Southeast California Weather:

Chances of showers along with isolated thunderstorms remain in the forecast for the region starting Tuesday night through much of Wednesday with the potential for heavy rain. Moisture will gradually decrease starting Thursday with skies clearing from west to east. Below normal temperatures through the end of this week will inch back toward seasonal normal for this weekend.
